(Second Tuesday) January 9: Heather Walpole "Hues You Can Use: Choose the right colors for your project"

Heather Walpole believes that as knitters and creative people we often find ourselves drawn to a specific set of colors. If a project calls for three colors of yarn, we can choose them quickly, but how do we choose which color will act as the main color and which of the remaining two colors will play the supporting roles? Visual balance is important during the decision-making process. Heather's program will provide unique insights into how to choose and use the right colors for a project.

Heather Walpole is the owner and creator of Ewe Ewe Yarns, a small independent yarn company based in Oceanside. Along with starting her own yarn line, Heather is an accomplished knitwear designer, author, and knitting personality. Heather created Ewe Ewe Yarns to be about color and happiness in knitting. Her career began as a graphic designer for news and ad agencies as well as designing for an international retailer. But she always dabbled in crafts; she did "every handcraft under the sun: drawing, painting, sewing, woodworking and even a little car maintenance!" Creating Ewe Ewe Yarns was the next logical step in her knitting career. Her yarns reflect her love of colors and fibers.

Click HERE for further details about Heather's January program.

Heather is the author of "Scarves in the Round" and has designed a wide variety of popular knitting patterns. Read more about Heather, about Ewe Ewe Yarns and browse all her patterns at <https://www.eweewe.com/about/> and on Ravelry at <https://www.ravelry.com/designers/heather-walpole>.

February Laura Aylor "The Accidental Designer"

Laura Aylor's knitting mantra is: "Sometimes challenging, sometimes relaxing, but always fun and with a great outcome!" Laura Aylor will talk about the roads she followed to create Fogbound Knits and how she became enamored with construction and textures. She will describe her top-down seamless, simultaneous set-in sleeve construction method for sweaters and how she designs "Sad-Rags!" Read more about Laura and her program at our February Guild meeting HERE.

Laura loves every step of the design process from figuring out how to make what she's envisioned to putting the finishing touches on a pattern, not to mention all the knitting that comes in between. See all of Laura Aylor's designs on Ravelry.

The Guild's new program schedule features top-notch professionals and promises lots of excitement and knitting inspiration in 2018! On January 9, we'll kick off the year with local celebrity Heather Walpole of Ewe-Ewe yarn, followed in February by the energetic Laura Aylor of Fogbound Knits. We managed to corral Susan Lazear, Professor of Fashion and consummate fashionista, and the talented Irina Anikeeva, international designer and Guild member. Founder and editor, Zinzi Edmundson of KnitWit magazine will enlighten all fiber craft hobbyists. The long-awaited reappearances of Barry Klein and Lily Chin will exhilarate and challenge us. We'll see the incredible yarn paintings of Timothy Hinchcliff, local artist extraordinaire. And rounding out the year we'll enjoy the awesome Susan B. Anderson.

Mark your calendars : Exclusive workshops are in store for our members by Laura Aylor, Irina Anikeeva, Barry Klein, Lily Chin and Susan B. Anderson. Save the dates on your calendars now.

WORKSHOPS: 2018 Workshop Registrations are open two months in advance for any workshop. Register by emailing programs@sandiegoknitters.com or sign up at a meeting. Payment is requested when you register: mail your check or pay by cash or check at a meeting. Registration is guaranteed upon confirmation of payment received. President's Message

by Mary Brown and Laura Brubaker - Co-Presidents
President@SanDiegoKnitters.com

Laura Brubaker

After listening to Michelle Montjoy, November's guest speaker, I am encouraged to try alternative materials in knitting. Years ago, we had a recycled materials fashion show and I made a shawl using three shades of old pantyhose and pop tops. Some of you may remember. Since then, I haven't tried to use any alternative materials but Michelle has inspired me to try again. It's been used before, but I think I'll root around for my old audio cassettes and pull the tape. Might not be the most comfortable item to wear but it would be a challenge and something different for me. I've seen some people cut up plastic bags, although we don't get many anymore while shopping. I encourage you to come up with some other ideas for alternative materials to knit with and maybe we can show them off next year at the holiday luncheon. Let me know if you are interested and maybe we'll start something. Keep knitting fun!

Laura and I would like to thank all of you who have helped make 2017 another good year for the SDNCKG. Without the support of our many committees and their leaders, we would be just an ordinary group, not the fabulous SDNCKG that encompasses all of you. The excellent volunteers that serve our Guild deserve your appreciation and thanks. So, the next time you see one, offer a big "THANK YOU!"

Mary Brown ~ Co-President

Mary Brown

Minutes - General Meeting Tuesday, November 7, 2017

by Mary Van Orsdol, Secretary
Secretary@SanDiegoKnitters.com

Co-President Co-President Mary Brown called the meeting to order at 1:30 pm. She welcomed one new member and one guest. She then introduced Programs Co-Chair Karen des Jardins.

Programs Co-Chair Karen des Jardins introduced guest speaker Michelle Montjoy. Michelle spoke about the evolution of her art, how she has incorporated knitting into her projects, and her techniques, and showed slides of many of her art installations.

After the presentation, Co-President Mary Brown conducted the business meeting.

Stash Sale: Co-President Mary Brown announced that the Stash Sale will be held on June 5, 2018.

Philanthropy: Chair Eileen Adler announced that at the Susan G. Komen Race for the Cure in San Diego on Sunday, November 4, she gave away 84 pairs of softies. She thanked all Guild members who donated softies and encouraged them to continue knitting them. She then conducted a raffle for Guild members who had donated softies with the grand prize going to Chris Ward.

Library: Co-Chair Scarrain Gomes reported on several new purchases for the Library including Carson Demers' book Knitting Comfortably: The Ergonomics of Handknitting, books of knitting patterns for both petite and plus sizes, and holiday knitting books. She announced that the magazines on display today were free, that any remaining ones would be recycled, and that a new selection would be available in January.

Holiday Luncheon/Fashion Show: Chair Willa Cather announced that the event is almost sold out and that she will begin a waiting list. She encouraged Guild members to participate in the fashion show and reminded that items cannot have been shown before at show and share.

Members Teaching Members: Chair Karen Bochinski announced that she needs teachers. As an inducement and thank-you, all teachers will receive project bags.

Programs: Co-Chair Carol Myers reported that the speakers for 2018 are booked and will be announced at the holiday lunch. She reminded Guild members that the January meeting will be held on the second Tuesday, January 9, 2018.

Retreats: no report.

Newsletter: Co-President Mary Brown announced that Monica Clark is resigning the position of newsletter layout and design as of January 2018. Newsletter editor Liz Knapp who is responsible for the content of the newsletter will continue in her position. Anyone who is interest in volunteering for the newsletter layout and design position should contact Co-President Mary Brown.

Co-President Laura Brubaker was Master of Ceremony for the Show & Share. Stacy Mann was the photographer. Co-President Mary Brown adjourned meeting at 3:07 pm.

Library

by Brigit Pitcairn & Scarrain Gomes
Librarian@SanDiegoKnitters.com

We would like all outstanding books returned in January. This is important for inventory reasons. Scarrain and I will not be at the February meeting due to amazing travel plans! We are looking for a volunteer to handle the library during this meeting. Please contact us and we will give you the necessary know-how at the January meeting. Thank you in advance

Philanthropy

Philanthropy@SanDiegoKnitters.com

SOFTIES knitters. At the November guild meeting we will select one name as the winner of the Yarn-It knitting globe provided by Marva Ross but you must be present to win. I've been using mine for over a year and I wonder how I lived without it. Open it with a quick twist, install your yarn ball or cake (center or outside pull), replace the cover and you're ready to knit. The removable rubber bottom can become a coaster/cup holder at a moment's notice or it can hold lots of notions knitters love. With three port-holes, colors can be used so Fair Isle, slip stitch knitting, and Mosaic knitting are a breeze – no more yarn tangles. The slots at the top store kurrounded by amazing helpers: Arlene Shaposhnick, Marva Ross, and Janet White and all of the knitters this year. We invite everyone to help: knit for philanthropy, "chair" the table before or after the meetings, store knitted items at your home, make deliveries; every little bit helps and makes this more fun. Ginny knows she can count on me – hope she can count on others too. I will continue as the Softies chair. What an exciting and rewarding experience this has been.

Retreat News

by June Bartczak, Retreat

Coordinator Retreats@SanDiegoKnitters.com

Twenty-three members are registered for the January Temecula Retreat and four are on the waiting list, just in case. Currently, the embroidery Guild members have 45 people in their group. They accommodated more attendees by converting some of their double rooms to triples. Please let me know if any of you confirmed participants would consider doing this. So far, only two members decided to share to accommodate more members. Two members cancelled due to scheduling conflicts. Three people on the wait list made other local arrangements and will join us for knitting and some meals. Two members also on the wait list have decided to be "day trippers" for Charity's Cooking Class day, the date of which I don't know yet. Meals are $15.00 each, and I need to have the final number of "Day Tripper Meals" by December 30, 2017 in order to give Charity and her staff adequate time to order the ingredients she needs for her wonderful meals. Both groups (SDNCKG and the Embroidery Guild Members) have until 30 days before the date of the retreat which is January 15-18, 2018 to release rooms.

The spring retreat is at Mary and Joseph Retreat Center in beautiful Rancho Palos Verdes from May 7-10, 2018. We must have a minimum of 10-12 participants to meet our contract. Six people have already committed to going. Take a look at your calendar and plan on attending the May Retreat with the Guild. The location is stunning and there are several yarn shops within driving distance, not to mention those on the way, should you decide to make a Road Trip of this occasion. More about this in future Newsletters and on the Website.

Holiday Luncheon 2017 Fashion Extravaganza

Holiday Luncheon & Fashion Show... it's a wrap!

by Willa Cather, Chairman

HolidayLuncheon@SanDiegoKnitters.com

Our annual Holiday Luncheon with its Fashion Show and Opportunity Drawing was a sellout success. Morgan Run Club & Resort was our site again this year, the Opportunity Drawing was moved to a larger room. One of the advantages was the lighting; I don't think anyone went home with a prize of black yarn that turned out to be navy blue. It takes many members to put on this event, and lots of you work on your prize donations all year.

A big Thank You to- Amy Sheridan and her loyal crew, Joyce McCarthy and Sandy Stapel handled the registration. Scarrain Gomes corralled a team to sell tickets for the drawings, which included Brigit Pitcairn, Gwen Nelson, Eileen Adler, Aunrey Bubis, and Marina Kahn. Cally Monster who organized the Fashion Show, and all the lovely modeled creations. Linda Erlich and MarGee Farr put on a comedy show guised as a Fashion Show narration. Kathy Glendinning and Donna Liu were our prize runners. MarGee Farr, Laura Brubaker and Willa Cather set up the room for the drawing the night before, displaying the prizes Willa and MarGee had been working on for months. Myra Lehmann took photos.

Speaking of months . . . a very special Thank You for donations from: The Monday PA group who made a wardrobe for an American Girl Doll, doll included. Barb Bennetts who donated a Spode Christmas Tree multiple piece set which was matched up with our Friday AKG Groups' Christmas Tree. Sue Zois got carried away and knit a whole afghan for the drawing. Both Jody Henning and Colleen Davis donated multiple completed garments. The Carlsbad Sunday Knitters donated an entire layette, 13 pieces.

Our spectacular table centerpieces were assembled by MarGee using lovely yarns all donated by Barbara Pearson. A challenge has been extended to the winners, model your creation from this glorious assortment next year at the fashion show, using the included pattern if you choose.

We wish all of you a wonderful Holiday Season. Have fun, be safe and have good cheer. We'll gather again in the New Year.

Marsha Wenskay, Gwen Wolfson, Jennifer See, Lynne Bohlman all knit the "Sequences" scarf in black & white. It scarf/wrap grows quickly while the pattern changes keep your knitting interesting and fun! You become addicted and motivated to finish. Designed by Lori Versaci.

Co-President Laura Brubaker, "Rain Outside Shawl." Laura found this knitting this Sylvia McFadden shawl very interesting with never a dull moment. Yarns were Mountain Colors Twizzlefoot, Rohrspatz & Wollmeise Lace, Baah La Jolla, Harrisville New England Shetland, and Rowan Kidsilk Haze.

Alice Chary, Stash Sale Coordinator Bobbie Brunson, Marva Ross, "Whippet Cardigan." The Gate group Knit-a-Long powered through this complicated construction with the help and encouragement of each other. Bobbie made her sleeves larger in circumference to make her sweater more comfortable to be worn over a long-sleeve shirt. Yarns used are Geilsk Cotton and Wool, Knit Picks Paragon Sport, Holst Garn Coast.

Vice President Linda Hart, "Sonoma Stole" Kit. This is a crescent shaped stole with wide bias ribs and knit-in fringe. It is worked in two sections and grafted together in the back. Linda became email pals with the designer after Linda discovered that they share the same birthday. After gifting Carole Sunday a design of her own, she was offered a pattern and chose this one. Linda had plans to use stash yarn, but quickly discovered she would need 17 colors.... and caved in and bought the kit.

Holiday Luncheon 2017 Fashion Extravaganza

Program Co-Chair Karen des Jardins, "Midsummer Night Shawl" from designed Olga Bochkareva. Knit in Anzula Breeze and MadTosh Prairie, Karen used 625 beads and added the gray border when she ran out of pink.

This capelet was inspired by a photo Colleen saw on Pinterest. It is composed of different shaped houses with colorful windows, doors, and roofs lined up in a row around the bottom. Using very bright colors in different fibers and textures, the layout reminded Colleen of a village

Holiday Luncheon 2017 Fashion Extravaganza

Co-President Mary Brown "All About Angles" cardigan used Bahh La Jolla and other fingering weight yarns. This is Mary's design. She played with angles throughout and used a variety of stitches along with some of Kaffe Fasset's poppies.

Anna Walden, 2-piece dress. This is the garment Anna designed and knit for the Mesa College and Salk Institute Design and Discovery Fashion Showcase. Each designer who was selected to participate in the program was paired with a scientist from Salk Institute. Anna's scientist is working on a cure for Glioblastoma, a form of brain tumor. This dress is a metaphor for her work. The I-cord embellishment on the lower top and skirt represents the brain folds (see close-up), the crocheted star shapes are astrocytes (brain cells), and the neckpiece is the tumor developing its own blood supply. Anna used Shibui Reed, Great Adirondack ladyslipper, and a collection of fibers including linen and rayon.

Josephine Barkhausen "Red Edge Cardigan" by Anna-Lisa Mannheim Lunn in Brown Sheep Nature Spun wool. This incredible cardigan took Josephine 10 years to knit, on and off. She found the neck front too high and lowered it for a customized fit.

2017 Luncheon Fundraiser by the numbers:

We raised $3,915 this year! The most popular prizes (by ticket count) were:

1. Christmas Tree & Spode China (360)
2. Sock Monkey (309)
3. American Girl Doll wardrobe (264)
4. Afghan (260)

Thank you for feedback like the following:

- "Thank you for bundling the tickets in sets of 25."
- "We love the color-coded bundles!"
- "Stapling the tickets meant I didn't have to remember which half went into the box."
